Beijing

Representing today's China, Beijing is a city in motion with the drama of history in its streets. The future course of the world reverberates here while magnificently preserved palaces, tombs and temples stand as testaments to the past. Stroll through the high-walled "Forbidden City" where, in earlier times, only members of the Emperor's family were permitted.

Visit Tiananmen Square, the largest public plaza in the world, capable of holding one million people and the site where Mao Zedong raised the flag of the People's Republic. The Square is visited by Chinese from all over the country and is surrounded by a variety of imposing buildings such as the Museum of Chinese History, the Chinese Revolution Museum and the Great Hall of the People where visiting Heads of State are entertained.

Wander leisurely through the grounds of the Summer Palace, residence of the last Empress where she built an imposing Marble Barge. Near Beijing, is the extraordinary 4,000 mile long Great Wall of China, an impenetrable barrier that seems to go on forever and that protected China from invading Mongols for over three centuries. A short drive away, through a peaceful valley, are the 13 tombs of the Ming Dynasty. These impressive burial places are actually huge underground palaces with numerous halls built for the Emperors' lavish treasures.

This present day capital of China stands as a bridge from the past to the future.

Xi'an

Mirroring everywhere the ancient Middle Kingdom's grandiose style, Xi'an served as the capital of China for eleven dynasties.

Marco Polo visited Xi'an during the Middle Ages when it was considered one of the largest cities in the world. The ancient Silk Road started here and extended to the Mediterranean. Among the 140 places of historical interest and scenic spots, Xi'an is best known for the legendary army of 7,000 life size terracotta warriors and their horses that have stood guard over the first Chinese Emperor, Qin Shi Huang's tomb for 2,000 years. Known as the Eighth Wonder of the World, this underground ruin was accidentally discovered by farmers in 1974 and presents a unique opportunity to view archeologists at work excavating this huge tomb of Emperor Qin, builder of the Great Wall.

The Great Wild Goose Pagoda, in the center of a working Buddhist Temple, is a masterpiece of classical Chinese architecture.

Shanghai

With its 12 million people, Shanghai is the largest city in all of Asia and has long been considered the commercial heart of China - from the flamboyant and flagrant 1920s and 1930s to the productivity and prosperity of today. Along the "Bund", or riverside boulevard, are grand colonial European-style buildings, a stones throw from the old Chinese Quarter with its maze of meandering alleys.

Window shopping on the Nanjing Road is most rewarding but in case you get tired of shopping, Shanghai Museum is a must-see. It is among the best museums in the World, as proclaimed by Forbes Magazine.

Shanghai, once called the "Paris of the East" points the way to the China of tomorrow with its futuristic skyline and its free enterprise spirit. Wait until you see the lights along the Bund on the evening cruise along the Huangpu River.

So many really special moments--at the Great Wall of China, sharing meditation under the trees at the Temple of Heaven, singing with the congregation at the church in Beijing, and the awesome sight of the Terracotta Warriors. The tour exceeded my expectations - the sightseeing was spectacular and unforgettable, the hotels were modern and comfortable, the food was good, the tour guides were knowledgeable and friendly and our tour manager was the best in making sure all the little details were handled, as well as being personable, loving and caring to all. I shall return!

I enjoyed the whole trip very much.

The overall experience rates an A+. Thank you for one of the most memorable trips of my life. I will cherish the wonderful memories and my grandchildren will marvel at the sight of their Grandmother dressed as an Empress surrounded by Terracotta warriors!!

Barbara DiSanto, Naples, FL

It was amazing! I've told everyone I know to go to China.

Katherine Thynne, Atlanta, GA

Excellent hotel accommodations. Excellent itinerary—the choice of sights to visit could not have been better. My favorites were the Terracotta warriors and the Summer Palace. The tour guides were wonderful, helpful & knowledgeable. Overall, a great experience. Awesome! I'll always remember it and feel closer to the Chinese people!

Pat Kappahn Atlanta, GA

Excellent!! Very pleased! Very good value for the money.

Mark Joy

Great, Fabulous, complete sensory overload!! I enjoyed everything we saw, did, met, ate, experienced....etc, etc. A tremendous vacation!!

Patricia Gruimer

It was a risk for me to travel so far from my own country but it paid back a hundred-fold visiting China with its different foods, exciting culture, and sights such as the Great Wall, Ming Tombs, the Forbidden City and the Summer Palace that were just awesome and breathtaking. You could almost feel the spirits of the Emperors who once ruled and walked those hallowed grounds hundreds of years ago.

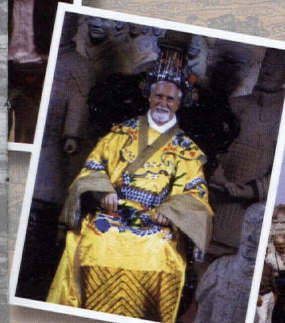

I participated in the ancient practice of Qui Gong in the early morning street square with close to a hundred native Chinese people and felt the sacredness and peace of this wonderful spiritual practice. I wasn't considered an outsider but a participant there to learn.

For me, my trip to China was a spiritual experience with the beautiful sights, mountainous countryside, interesting and exciting people and culture and last but not least, the wonderful camaraderie I shared with our guides and other tour members that helped bond me and left me grateful to be alive.

Dianne Schiller Seminole, FL

The entire trip was extremely well run and immensely enjoyable. All that was included and the level of our accommodations made the trip an exceptional value.

Why Do I Need Travel Insurance?
Vacations are meant to be carefree but sometimes the unexpected can spoil your travel plans. Whether illness, lost luggage, sudden changes in plans or trip cancellation, your dream vacation can become a nightmare if your existing insurance does not apply.

Regent Network Travel stands with all the industry in recommending that anyone traveling out of the country, seriously consider purchasing insurance coverage. For peace of mind, insure your vacation! A typical policy costs only 5 or 6% of the total cost of the trip and some less. You will receive additional travel insurance information with your tour invoice.
